Stop Wasting Money on Spanish

Have you ever stopped and thought about how much money you have spent on your Spanish since you started studying?

HolonIQ, a global research and intelligence firm, estimates that offline language learners are spending an average of $1,000 to $3,000 a year while the average annual spend for digital language learning ranges from $150 to $250 a year.

But that is not all. The worst thing is that according to a leading language learning company, only 7.8% of people who study a new language as an adult manage to speak that language fluently in less than 5 years.

Isn't that fricking insane!? $250 a year to NOT learn a language!

Now you are going to stop being part of those statistics because I am going to teach you how to use technology to surround yourself with Spanish 24/7 for free.

First, we are going to review the resources you have been using and see how much you've spent lately on your Spanish.

And then we will take action and start changing our way to get immersed in Spanish. ¡Vamos!

Now I want you to list ONLY the free resources you've been using (you can use the previous table as a guideline).

LISTENING	READING	WRITING	SPEAKING

I bet your list of free resources is waaaaaaay shorter. Actually, I bet your list of paid resources is bigger than your list of free resources. Am I right?

Well, let's change that.

I want you to invest some time (the next couple of hours) looking for free resources you can use to get immersed in Spanish right now.

As I show you in the video, I have created a compilation of free resources in order to help you with this task.

On my website you'll find 350+ resources sorted into several categories:

- Apps
- Blogs & Websites
- Dictionaries
- Quizzes
- Listening
- Newspapers & Magazines
- Podcasts
- Radio Stations
- Structures Lessons
- TV channels
